

President Elect of PLAIS

Professor Jolanta Kowal is Adjunct in the Institute of Psychology at the University of Wrocław, Associate Professor and the Vice-Rector at the College of Management “Edukacja”, Wrocław, Poland. She is a member of scientific associations: Association for Information Systems (AIS) and its Polish Chapter PLAIS (President Elect of PLAIS since 2014), PTS (Polish Statistical Association) and PTPA (Polish Association of Analytical Psychology, President since 2013) accredited by IAAP (International Association of Analytical Psychology in Zurich). She has been the organizer and co-chair of the scientific events concerned with AIS as conferences: ICTM 2012, ICTM 2013, CMEP 2014, minitrack and panel session of AMCIS 2014, among many others.

Jolanta has been the member of scientific committees and reviewer of conferences concerned with AIS as: SIGSAND/PLAIS EuroSymposium since 2014, AMCIS since 2010 and HICSS since 2010.

Jolanta is a member of editorial boards of two scientific journals: the Polish Journal of Applied Psychology (PJAP) and Gospodarka Rynek Edukacja (GRE). She is associated research editor of Cambridge Scholars Publishing.

Her research focuses on methodology, management, competences, job satisfaction, business ethics, ethics of IT professions, corporate social responsibility, and multicultural influences of psychoanalysis. She authored and co-authored more than 80 peer-reviewed scientific papers."